A calmer, clearer next step

Welcome. This reset brings reflection and action together. You do not need a perfect budget to begin. You need a willingness to look honestly at your situation and take one manageable step.

HOW TO USE THIS RESOURCE

Set aside 15–20 minutes at a time. Read the assigned passage in your own NIV Bible, consider the original teaching, and complete one practical action. Work at a pace that fits your health, energy, and circumstances. Keep financial records private and store completed pages securely.

Your four weekly themes: Days 1–7, understanding money through scripture; Days 8–14, taking control; Days 15–21, building stability; Days 22–28, lasting peace. Days 29–30 assess progress and set the next 90 days. Each day includes a full lesson and a separate journal/action page.

ABOUT SCRIPTURE AND ORIGINAL WRITING

Bible references invite you to read the NIV in your own Bible. This edition does not reproduce NIV verse text. All teachings, prayers, affirmations, and exercises are original Faithful Money Living writing; they are not scripture quotations. Practical applications are distinguished from the original biblical setting.

Begin with stewardship

READ AND CONSIDER

Read Proverbs 27:23-24 in your own NIV Bible.

Stewardship begins with paying attention. Proverbs speaks to an agricultural household: its flocks required care because wealth would not last forever. Our accounts are different, but the practical application is similar. We cannot make thoughtful decisions about resources we refuse to examine. Opening a statement is an act of attention, even when the balance is uncomfortable.
Your financial position is information, not a measure of your worth before God. Illness, caregiving, income loss, and rising costs can create real hardship. Start by naming what is true without blaming yourself. Today is for gathering facts, not fixing everything. A clear starting point makes a small next step possible.

PRACTICE TODAY

Gather current checking and savings balances, take-home income, and debt statements. Record totals and statement dates on the starting snapshot. Estimate only when necessary and mark estimates. Do not write account numbers or passwords in this workbook.

PRAY

God, meet me with courage as I look honestly at what is in my care. Help me trade avoidance for one thoughtful step. Amen.

AFFIRMATION | ORIGINAL WRITING

I can face my numbers with honesty and dignity.

Make room for your response

Which number have I been avoiding, and what support would help me face it?
